FINAL PROVISIONS

In addition to the fees from the Decision on fees in the operations with consumers, the Bank may also calculate and collect from clients the fees of FINA, the CNB, the Money Market and other entities, depending on a specific service and its realization.

In addition to the fees for individual services, the Bank may also calculate the actual costs, such as:

- postage and telecommunications costs
- costs charged by other banks in the country and abroad
- fees, taxes and similar paid by the Bank
- other costs that are not specified, but are determined by the Agreement between the Bank and the user of the service.

The fees are variable and they are calculated and charged according to the valid Decision on fees in the operations with consumers.

During the Agreement period, the Bank will not charge the client with the fee that was not contained in the Decision on fees in the operations with consumers at the time the Agreement was concluded.

The Decision on fees in the operations with consumers is an integral part of the Framework Agreement.

Depending on its business interest, business significance and market conditions, the Bank's Management Board may determine the fee in the amount different than the one specified in this Decision.

This Decision shall enter into force and be applicable from 1 February 2025.
